Speaking

LISTEN & REPEAT

Speaking Task 1
Speaking estimate: 25.8 / 30

INTERVIEW SPEAKING

Speaking Task 2
Speaking estimate: 23.1 / 30

Your pronunciation and fluency are exceptional, as demonstrated by your smooth delivery even when navigating complex ideas about academic research and internship policies. However, your strongest area of improvement lies in correcting recurring grammatical errors and awkward phrasing, such as the tense mistakes in "I would never thought" or the repetitive use of "interactive person," which currently distract from your otherwise clear arguments. To address this, you should practice recording yourself answering questions while focusing on using simple sentence structures to ensure your main points are communicated without confusion. Additionally, try replacing vague or stiff phrases like "target of our starting process itself" with more natural expressions that better fit a conversational tone. With your excellent delivery skills and a bit more attention to grammatical accuracy, you have tremendous potential to achieve a top-tier score on the TOEFL speaking section.

Extension Request
Writing rubric: 4 / 5

This is a strong, generally successful response that meets all task requirements. You clearly explained your situation, specified the extension needed, and listed what you have finished. Your tone is respectful and appropriate for a professor. To reach the highest level, focus on proofreading for small spelling mistakes and refining phrases like 'as your demand' to sound more natural in an academic context.

ACADEMIC DISCUSSION

Technology in Education

Writing rubric: 3 / 5

You have successfully taken a clear position and engaged with your classmates' arguments, which is a strong start. To improve your score, you need to expand on why disciplined students aren't negatively affected by AI, perhaps by contrasting them with undisciplined ones or giving a brief scenario. Your language control needs work; watch out for spelling mistakes like 'developement' and preposition errors like 'form' instead of 'from'. Finally, try to avoid filler phrases like 'so, all in all, that's basically why' and end with a stronger concluding thought.
